

ABSTRACT

A safety syringe and cap holding device for holding a syringe which also allows the syringe to be capped and uncapped while minimizing exposure of the user's hands to the hazard of needle sticks. The cap holding device can be powered electrically or mechanically, and can be selectively operated by a user.